Management change in RTX A/S

The Supervisory Board of RTX has received notice from Jesper Mailind, President & CEO of RTX.

Jesper Mailind was appointed President & CEO of RTX in June 2009, and has during the past years completed a significant turnaround and strategic refocusing of the company. Today, RTX stands as a company structured around two activities: Design Services, as engineering design house within the wireless field, and Enterprise & VoIP, as a sub-supplier of IP-based telephony products for the Enterprise field. A strategy has been laid for the future, investments made in future technologies and product platforms, and RTX is profitable.

Jesper Mailind has been appointed President & CEO of the consulting engineering firm ALECTIA A/S.

The Supervisory Board has initiated a search for a suitable replacement. Jesper Mailind has 6 months' notice, but will leave RTX as soon as a replacement can take over the position, however, no later than the end of April 2013.

The Supervisory Board will at the coming General Assembly recommend the shareholders that Jesper Mailind is elected member of the Supervisory Board in RTX A/S.

Yours sincerely,
RTX A/S

Jens Alder
Chairman
